Risk Warning

FX trading (Foreign Exchange Margin Trading / Contracts for Difference) involves a very high risk of incurring not only large marginal losses, and a loss of the principal amount invested, but also losses in excess of the principal amount invested, due to sudden price fluctuations of the target currency or stock.

This investment risk is caused by the high leverage and the ability to trade many times the amount of funds deposited, and we cannot guarantee that these financial instruments are suitable for all customers. Please make sure you have a thorough understanding of the investment risks involved and carefully consider your own experience before trading.
